

CAPITAL NEWSPAPER WARNED EXPLOSION WOULD TAKE PLACE

A LETTER SIGNED "R. PEARSE," PREDICTED BOMB IN CAP-ITOL BUILDING.

PROTEST AGAINST U. S. POLICY

The Letter Was Rambling Argument Against Exportation of Munitions.

(Associated Press)

Washington, July 3—Experts on explosives are today investigating the terrific explosion which wrecked the public reception room on the senate side of the capitol building at 11:40 o'clock last night.

Bomb or Infernal Machine.

It is generally believed that the explosion was caused by a bomb or an infernal machine. Superintendent Woods asserts that if it proves to have been the work of a bomb it was undoubtedly placed by some crank who wished to cause a sensation.

Woods estimated the damage at $600, but it is believed a complete examination will show the loss to have been much greater. There were no employees in that part of the building at the time of the explosion.

May Have Been Protest.

Some of the officials at the capitol are of the opinion that the placing of the bomb, if such it proves to have been, was perpetrated as a protest against the policies of the American government.

Was Predicted.

The only clue to the explosion is a letter signed "R. Pearse," which was written to the Washington Times before the explosion saying that it would take place. The letter is a rambling argument against the exportation of war munitions.

The explosion was heard for hundreds of yards from the capitol and despite the lateness of the hour, a large crowd gathered to ascertain its cause. Rumors flew thick and fast through Washington that "the capitol has been blown up," creating a considerable sensation.

Scores of police were rushed to the capitol from nearby police stations. Elliott Woods, superintendent of the capitol said that Prof. Charles F. Munro of George Washington university, one of the government's experts on explosives had been asked to make an investigation.

Chief of the Capitol Police Loutham recalled that several months ago he had received a letter from a labor agitator in St. Louis threatening to "blow up the capitol." He said he had no reason for believing that the author of that letter had committed last night's crime. Superintendent Woods said he believed the explosion had been the work of a crank who was seeking to create a sensation.

The explosion occurred in the public reception room of the senate which is on the first floor of the northeast wing of the capitol.

Polo Temperance Jubilee And Home Coming Is Big Success

(By Staff Correspondent)

Polo, Ill., July 2—Polo citizens did themselves proud in the opening day of their three-day Home Coming celebration. From the parade held yesterday morning, the exercises on the church lawn, and the profuse decorations, it would indicate that every one of the town's 2,000 souls participated in the first day of the big affair.

Thousands of visitors thronged the streets from early morn until a late hour at night. During these hours there was "something doing every minute."

The day opened with a magnificent parade, a speech by Congressman McKenzie, martial music by Major Hendershot, the "boy drummer of the civil war," band concerts, and general amusements of all kinds.

Big Temperance Parade.

Polo, regardless of the terrible crime committed the night before the opening of the celebration, turned out

Dixon Is Ready, To Entertain Big Crowd Monday

Plans Are Complete For Big Celebration - Program Is Complete

Dixon is ready to entertain the biggest crowd in her history Monday and present indications are for fair weather and the most successful celebration in the records of northern Illinois. The program, which is published elsewhere on this page, assures "some thing doing" from early morning until late at night, and Dixon's reputation of giving what she promises will be lived up to Monday. Every event will take place on scheduled time.

Autos In Parade.

The committee in charge of the parade in the evening requests that every automobile owner in the city decorate his car and get in the parade which will start at 7:30 o'clock sharp. The machines will be allowed to run at a ten-mile-an-hour rate, which will not inconvenience the drivers, and a goodly number of private cars in the parade will add much to its attractiveness. The committee has been unable to see all of the autoists personally, therefore this means of appealing for their assistance is taken. And patriotic Dixon people will doubtless respond to the appeal.

DEATH RESULTS OF RECENT ACCIDENT

CLYDE EASTMAN, FORMER AM-BOY YOUNG MAN, DIED AT OTTAWA

(Special to the Telegraph)

Amboy, July 3—Clyde Eastman of Ottawa, a former resident of Amboy, died suddenly at his home in Ottawa Wednesday as the injuries received a short time ago while at work. He was, at that time, struck on the head with a piece of gas pipe which fell on him, but no untoward effects were noticed and he returned to his work after a short disability. However it is believed that the blow on the head caused the formation of a blood clot, which ultimately resulted in his death.

Mr. Eastman's father, Neil Eastman, formerly conducted a restaurant on East avenue, and until a few years ago the deceased was a resident of Amboy. He was an estimable young man in every way. Mrs. Eastman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell and his sister, Mrs. Geo. Pankhurst and her husband, all of Amboy, went to Ottawa to attend the funeral which took place today.

CONTRACT FOR SHRAPNEL FOR RUSSIAN ARMY TURNED DOWN

Rochelle, July 2—The Geo. D. recently received an order for shrapnel from the Russian government which they declined. The specifications sent were for a steel sheet three inches in diameter and fourteen long. The explosive and timing device are added in Russia. Shrapnel is so made that a certain length of time after firing it discharges, scattering the fragments in all directions. It is the ammunition most dreaded by men in the trenches. The shipments to Russia from this country go by way of Seattle, the Pacific ocean and overland through Siberia by way of Valadovostok to Russia. The journey by rail across Siberia by way of Valadovostok to Russia takes three days.

J. P. MORGAN SHOT TWICE AT HIS HOME; IS NOT BADLY HURT

ASSAILANT FORCED ENTRANCE TO FINANCIER'S HOME AND FIRED SHOTS.

IS GERMAN SYMPATHIZER

Says Morgan Is To Blame For Shipment of Supplies To the Allies' Army.

(Associated Press)

New York, July 3—J. P. Morgan, head of the banking firm bearing his name, was shot but not seriously wounded by an unknown man at his home at Glen Cove, L. I., at 9 o'clock this morning. The would-be assassin is presumably a crank.

Fired Two Shots.

Two shots were fired, one taking effect in the hip, the other in Mr. Morgan's breast, tearing the flesh and passing out through the arm. The man is said to have reached Glen Cove in a hired automobile. He rang the bell and the butler appeared.

Frightened Butler.

The stranger said he wanted to see Morgan as he was an old friend, but the butler refused him admission, whereupon the man pressed the pistol against the butler's stomach and pushed his way into the hall as the servant screamed.

Morgan Asks Trouble.

Morgan was approaching through the hall and as he came up he asked what the trouble was. The answer was a shot into his hip. He staggered into a chair, grasped a brass coal hod and struck his assailant on the head with it, but too late to prevent the second shot.

Satchel of Dynamite.

The butler in the meantime grappled with the would-be assassin and finally overpowered him. The assailant had brought satchels full of nitroglycerine and dynamite, which were found hidden in the hedge on the grounds. He said he was of German descent and would have given his life to have accomplished his design.

Blames Morgan for Help.

He blamed Morgan for the shipment of arms to the allies and claimed that the Morgan company is purchasing agent for the British war department in this country and purchases all the British army supplies bought here.

Morgan Answers Call.

After the shooting Morgan personally answered a telephone call and said he did not think his injuries would amount to much.

Another theory of the two shots is that the assailant, who later in the day said his name was F. Holt and that he was an instructor of French at Cornell University, used two revolvers.

Bound With Rope.

After the assailant had been overpowered the servants bound him with rope and left him on the lawn until officers from Glen Cove, which is three miles from the Morgan home, came with an automobile and removed him to the court house, where he was examined.

He is a tall, lanky, raw-boned individual and denies that anyone inspired the plot.

"Came From On High."

"It came to me from on high," he said, "I shot to frighten him and hope he isn't hurt." The prisoner appears dazed, however, and it is thought he may be suffering from a fractured

DAUBERT IN LEAD IN NATIONAL LIST

BROOKLYN'S FIRST SACKER ON TOP IN AVERAGES PUBLISHED TODAY.

COBB RETAINS TOP POSITION

Magee Also Leads Profession In the Federal League—List of the Leaders.

(Associated Press)

Chicago, July 3.—Jake Daubert, the Brooklyn star first baseman, has regained the batting leadership of the National league, according to averages published here today. In the American league Cobb continues in front and Magee holds the leadership in the Federal. The ten leading batsmen of the National, who have taken part in at least half of the games played, including those of last Wednesday, are: Daubert, Brooklyn, 336; J. Smith, Boston, 323; Merkle, New York, 323; Luderus, Philadelphia, 321; Good, Chicago, 313; W. Killefer, Cincinnati, 310; Doyle, New York, 309; Gaier, Chicago, 306; Robertson and Connolly, Boston, tied for tenth place at 300. Robertson has tied Carey of Pittsburgh for stolen bases honors with 15; Saier leads in the runs scored with 42; in total bases with 132, and ranks next to Cravath in home runs, having scored eight to the Philadelphia's nine. St. Louis and New York are tied in team batting at 259.

Pitchers of the National league who have attained an average of 700 as to games won and lost, and including only those who have worked in ten or more contests, are: Pierce, Chicago, won 8 and lost 1; Alexander, Philadelphia, 14 and 3; Meadows, St. Louis, 7 and 2; Mameaux, Pittsburgh, 10 and 3; Mayer, Philadelphia, 12 and 4.

American League.

Batting leaders of the American league are: Cobb, Detroit, 397; Fournier, Chicago, 343; Jackson, Cleveland, 330; Crawford, Detroit, 329; Lajoie, Philadelphia, 329; E. Collins, Chicago, 327; McInnis, Philadelphia, 324; Veach, Detroit, 318; Speaker, Boston, 318; Strunk, Philadelphia, 310; Cobb still leads the base stealers with 51, which as the season is not quite half over indicates his total for the year will be more than 100. He also scored the most runs—72 for 67 games—but Crawford has outdistanced him in long hits, with total bases numbering 127. Oldring of Philadelphia and Caldwell of New York with four apiece hold the lead as home run hitters. Chicago leads in team hitting with 267 and Detroit is next with 259.

Top notch pitchers are: Faber, Chicago, won 14 and lost 2; Wood, Boston, 6 and 1; Scott, Chicago, 10 and 3; Fisher, New York, 10 and 3; Johnson, Washington, 12 and 5; Benz, Chicago, 7 and 3.

Federal League.

Magee, Brooklyn's manager, leads the Federal batters with 352, but he lost other honors he held, Konetchy, Pittsburgh, leading in total bases with 115; Kauff, Brooklyn, in stolen bases with 23; and Evans, Brooklyn and Baltimore, in runs scored at 43. Following Magee, the batters are: Campbell, Newark, 343; Deal, St. Louis, 337; Plack, Chicago, 335; Easlerly, Kansas City, 333; Kauff, Brooklyn, 332; Yerkes, Pittsburgh, 327; Fischer, Chicago, 324; Duncan, Baltimore, 324; Myers, Brooklyn, 312; Chase, Buffalo; Konetchy, Pittsburgh and Walsh, Baltimore, are tied in home runs at seven. Brooklyn leads the clubs in batting with 282 and Chicago is next with 262.

Mordecai Brown's "come back" has been successful as it put him among the "seven hundred" pitchers of the Federals, who are Plank, St. Louis, won 9 and lost 3; Allen, Pittsburgh, 11 and 4; McConnell, Chicago, 12 and 5; Cullop, Kansas City, 12 and 5; Brown, Chicago, 7 and 3.

KEENAN BROTH ERS BATTERY ON MONDAY

CHARLES AND JOE WILL WORK AGAINST STERLING WEST ENDS.

LIGHTNER PITCHES AT DEKALB

Huber Will Thus Be Saved for the Afternoon Game Against Sterling.

According to present plans Charles Keenan will make his first appearance in the box for the Dixon Home Guards in Monday morning's game against the Sterling West Ends, and "Brother Joe" will do the receiving stunt—in which memory of the successful Stars of a few seasons ago will be revived.

The game against DeKalb tomorrow and two with Sterling on Monday will make it necessary for all three of Dixon's box artists to work, and the scheme now is to send Lightner against DeKalb tomorrow, with Stratton catching. The Keenan brothers' battery will work in the morning holiday game against Sterling and Huber and Lennox will do the work in the afternoon.

However, should DeKalb—this is merely a hope—prove easier than has been expected, Lightner, after starting tomorrow's game, may be saved and Keenan sent in to finish it, which would allow Huber to work Monday morning and Lightner in the afternoon.

PORFIRIO DIAZ IS DEAD, AN EXILE

Stormy Career of Ex-Dictator Closes in Paris.

RULED MEXICO FOR 35 YEARS

Four Years' Exile From Native Land Spent at French Capital—Educated as Priest, He Became Military Leader and Finally Strongest Man in Nation's History.

Paris, July 3.—General Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, died at 7 o'clock in the morning. His wife, Senora Carmen Romero Rubio Diaz, and their son, Porfirio Diaz Jr., and "the latter's wife were at the bedside when the end came.

General Diaz had been in failing health since reaching Europe in 1911 after his resignation from the presidency of Mexico following the successful Madero revolution. Last fall he was ill at Biarritz, France, but was reported to have recovered. He had consistently declined to comment on the passing phases of the Mexican situation.

Diaz Born in 1830.

General Diaz was born in 1830. His family was of old Spanish stock, with an infusion of Indian blood. Left fatherless at the age of three, he was educated at the expense of the bishop of Oaxaca, with the intention of becoming a priest, but he eventually turned to law and then at the outbreak of the war with the United States turned to a military career.

He served throughout that struggle in a militia company which he helped organize, and after peace was declared made a special study of military science. He and one other were the only two in the country who dared openly oppose the continuation of Santa Anna's dictatorship. His execution was ordered, but he escaped and joined Herrera's revolt.

Diaz speedily made a reputation as a soldier, and as a brigadier general he was the chief thorn in the side of the French forces, when, taking advantage of the civil war in the United States, they attempted to place Archduke Maximilian of Austria on the throne of a Mexican empire.

Captures Mexico City.

Diaz harassed the enemy constantly, and in June, 1867, captured Mexico City with his forces. On the establishment of the republic he was unsuccessful as a candidate for president, but in 1877 he was elected to fill the unexpired term of the fugitive president, Lerdo. His last and eighth election was in July, 1910.

BROOMS.

A broom is a large calibred weapon used by women in fighting dirt.

Brooms were invented hundreds of years ago, about the time dust first became unpopular. They are very easy to operate. Seizing the handle with the left hand at the upper end, the right hand clasping said handle about half way down, the operator draws the bristly end of the instrument rapidly over the floor, thus collecting the dirt and debris by a deft motion.

A broom is very light and not very appalling in appearance, but most men who attempt to operate them make pitiable failures. We laugh at woman, because she could compile an average of .0007 with a baseball bat, but a woman weighing 92 pounds, 6 ounces can seize a broom in a confident manner and make a home run with it every time. It is indeed a pitiable sight to see a 200-pound husband with swelling biceps seize a broom and take seven strikes at a piece of string on the floor without even hitting a foul.

Woman would be a depressing failure if she attempted to conduct the baseball exercises of this nation. But if man were given a carload of brooms and instructed to keep a seven-room house clean he would fill the place with broom straws and cuss words, and clope to safety through the window with a cry of fear.

There are many alarming sights in civilized life, but not more so than that of a determined woman with a dust cloth tied about her head and a broom in her hand sweeping up after a disorderly family. Many a husband who has attempted to argue with his wife under these conditions has gone out of the house with the debris in a cloud of dust, and has come in to supper under a flag of truce many hours later.

New brooms are supposed to sweep clean. This is why newly elected officials always make sweeping changes. However, very few officials bother about sweeping up after they have once gotten the opposition's office holders into the ash can. This is one of the faults of our beloved country. We should sweep out more regularly.

BIG NAVAL BATTLE IN BALTIC

Russians Said to Have Attacked Germans but Were Defeated.

London, July 3.—The extent of the naval action off Gothland is not yet known. Some Scandinavian reports represent that it was on a large scale and that four big cruisers and several other warships were engaged all night, the battle continuing until noon.

One report from Stockholm says that four Russian cruisers attacked the Germans between Ostergar and Faroe and that the Germans were reinforced, overwhelming the Russians, who retired northward in safety at 9 a. m., a running fight continuing until noon.

SUBSEA BOATS MAKE LARGE HAUL IN RAID

Two Big Steamers and Several Small Boats Sunk.

London, July 3.—German U boats during the night made their biggest haul since the torpedoing of the Lusitania. They sent to the bottom the big British steamer Caucasian and the liner Inglemoor, whose combined tonnage exceeded that of the Leyland liner Armenian, and sank also the British steamer Welbury, a British chopper, the L. The crews of the Inglemoor and the Caucasian were landed at Falmouth. The crew of the Welbury is over the line of march, proud at heart and cheerful in spirit in being privileged to demonstrate that they resided in a city which has been saloonless for fifty years.

POLO HOME COMING IS A BIG SUCCESS

All in all the parade was a magnificent affair.

McKenzie Speaks.

Immediately after the parade the large crowd went to the lawn of the Independent Presbyterian church, at which place a platform decorated with flags had been provided and from which Congressman McKenzie spoke for twenty-five minutes.

Mr. McKenzie praised the people of Polo for the enterprise and energy put forth to make the occasion such a success. He told of the many pleasures that the Home Coming meant to the men and women, born in Polo, and who were here now to enjoy the three days with old friends and relatives. He spoke briefly of the temperance cause and concluded with a beautiful tribute to our country and her people.

City Decorated.

Nearly every home in Polo is decorated with flags and bunting; lawns have been given careful attention and the entire city has been put in shape for the home coming of her "children" who live in other parts of the country. Every door in Polo is open until Sunday evening, the close of the celebration, to the visitor and all will be made welcome during their stay.

Polo, in her decoration, parade and programs, and in her general appearance, sets an example that many larger cities could well follow on occasions of a similar nature.

Delightful Function

Miss Olive Bender was hostess at a most delightful evening function Friday, the occasion being her 20th birthday. At 8 o'clock the guests, ten couples, were received on the porch of the beautiful Bender home by Miss Bender and initiated into the festivities. The porch was entirely enclosed in a lattice work of red and white with Japanese lanterns hung from the cornices while flags, and bunting were used most effectively, and the corner in which the punch bowl was placed was a bower of red, white and blue. The evening's merriment began by electing Hal Drew as Uncle Sam and Miss Kathryn Doyle as Liberty. Miss Bender had previously announced that the guests would be entertained with some of the world's most renowned celebrities and when the guests found their own names on the programs, which had been artistically decorated by Miss Bender, they were much surprised. Each one, according to his talents, was on the program, and a delightful, informal evening resulted. "500" was played during a part of the evening.

Following the program the guests were invited into the dining room where a delicious two course luncheon was served. The table was decorated in the red, white and blue, with red and white streamers from the electric dome. A birthday cake, with red, white and blue candles
and flags formed the centerpiece, and the favors were miniature pack-luncheon the guests were taken to

DANGERS REAL AND FANCIED.

The average woman will scream with terror at the sight of an innocent little mouse, and then complacently sit down and suffer in silence with diseases that are destroying her youth, her beauty, her very life.
She will uncomplainingly resign herself to the woes and miseries of female troubles, which are to be dreaded a thousand times more than a tiny mouse. It is gratifying to know that untold numbers of women are being restored to perfect vigor and strength
by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures
all uterine disorders.
The exact name of the disease doesn't amount to a row of pins. It is in the womanly organs, "Favorite Prescription" will hunt it out and cure it.
It can be a drain, a pain, an inflammation, an irregularity or a weakness, and this medicine will act directly upon it, and restore the organs to perfectly healthy action. It prepares the girl to become a woman, the wife to become a mother, the middle-aged to pass the "turn of life" in safety. It is not a "cure-all" but a medicine for women only, and is the prescription of Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., the world-famed specialist in the treatment of disorders of women. Any reader of this paper may consult Dr. Pierce free by mail.

Automatic Refrigerator

This is honest fact. Many a dream of newly wedded bliss has been shattered by wife's meals the first summer—and it wasn't her fault. Summer is a trying season for any housewife, without a good refrigerator.

"The Automatic Refrigerator" insures tasty, perfectly cared for food, and deliciously cold drinking water. It's false economy to buy a cheap refrigerator, which doesn't care for the food satisfactorily and wastes enough ice in a few seasons to buy the best refrigerator on earth.

JULY 3 1915

A REAL SANE FOURTH.

The Safety First Federation of America has now taken up the question of a safe and sane Fourth of July and is making a nation-wide appeal to the newspapers and to the people in general to see to it that the accidents that have cost so heavily in the past are avoided as far as possible this year.

The safe and sane movement has already had the effect of enormously reducing the number of accidents and fatalities, and it is hoped to still further reduce the number. The federation has now asked the government of each state to issue a proclamation to see to it that the sale of dangerous fire arms and explosives is prohibited, and that regulations in the various municipalities are strictly enforced.

Dorwin P. Kingsley of New York is president of the organization, and his committee recommends that drastic action be taken relative to the issuance of permits for the sale of fireworks or explosives and that for ten days prior to July 4 the officials in every city should seize all fireworks which have been retained without a permit, and destroy the same, such authority being now conferred upon the officials in New York City.

Reference is made to the successful campaign conducted in Newark, N. J., under the direction of Captain Charles A. Gasser, inspector of combustibles and fire risks, not a single person having been injured by fireworks in that city on July 4 during the past three years. There have been fewer fires and accidents on Independence day than any other day in the year as a result of Captain Gasser's efforts.

THE POLO TRAGEDY.

The tragedy that saddened Polo Thursday night is sordid in its aspect and rotten in its details. The shooting of the young man was the sort of an end that might be expected and often results from just such a program of events that he and his companion were engaged in. It is unfortunate and sad, and the sympathy of everyone goes out to the families of the principals in the affair. It is hoped that it may serve as a good example in years to come. Surely some good should result from such loss and suffering.

THE FARMERS HAVE THEIR TROUBLES.

The farmers of this part of the state are in a death-battle with the weeds that got such a start during the raining season, but from present reports the farmers have the upper hand and have routed the enemy. The Hessian fly is doing a great amount of damage in the wheat fields of this section of the state and in others. This pest will cost millions of dollars to the country this year. The wheat stalks growing in the field turn white before maturity. Upon examination it will be found that the stalk has been eaten off at the root and turned black at the end.

POLO "FIFTY YEARS DRY."

Polo surely "did herself proud" in her celebration of Fifty Years Dry yesterday. The parade gotten up by the citizens of Polo was as beautiful an affair as could be imagined. Old residents said that in fifty years of their recollection there never had been such a turn-out in the town. Thousands thronged the streets and were well entertained all day and evening.

MAKE IT A SANE FOURTH.

Take no chances with life and health while celebrating the Fourth. Big fire-crackers and other dangerous explosives should not be sold or used, either by grown-ups or children. No amount of fun and excitement pays for blindness, crippling, or the blighting out of a life. Make it a Sane Fourth.

Come to Dixon on the 5th of July and witness the biggest celebration in Northern Illinois.

J. P. MORGAN SHOT TWICE IN HIS HOME

skull as a result of the blow from the coal hod. The officials have concluded that he is not rational.

Examined Satchels.

The contents of the two suit cases he brought with him have been examined. One contained three sticks of dynamite and the other a bottle of nitro-glycerine.

Cornell reports that a man named Holt has been an instructor of German there since 1912.

Holt Made Statement.

Holt made a statement in which he said: "My home is in Dallas, Texas. I am forty years of age and have a wife and children. I was born in this country and so were my father and mother. My ancestors were French and German. It is all mixed up.

"I received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Cornell University in 1914 and before that I was instructor in French. I was formerly instructor in the Vanderbilt University.

"I came to New York two weeks ago from Ithaca and a month ago I decided I would see Morgan and get him to use his influence in stopping the exportation of arms which makes you and me responsible for the murder going on there. I think Wilson's views are fine, but they did not do any thing to stop the war."

Shot Through Groin.

It later developed that Morgan was shot through the groin. The effect of the shooting on the stock market was negligible.

LITTLE GIRL IS DEPENDENT

Little Girl Will Be Sent To Institution For Education

In the county court this morning a hearing was had on a petition filed to have Mamie Harvey of this city declared a dependent child. The little girl, since the death of her mother a few years ago, has been making her home with Mrs. Rollins in west Dixon and Mrs. Rollins feeling that she could not afford to keep her longer though that she should be sent to some place where she might receive an education. The court granted the prayer of the petition and now some suitable place is being looked up where she may be sent.

The death of Christ does not upset this law. Every act reacts upon the doer, rendering retribution inevitable. Retribution will be remedial and will lead to the final harmony of all souls with God. Without this the hereafter will be a dissonance.

AT THE FAMILY

A special program of unusual scope has been arranged by Manager Plein for the July Fourth celebration at the Family theater Monday, July 5th, which will doubtless be responsible for packing this popular playhouse at every performance. The doors will be thrown open at 11 a. m., and the performance will run continuously to 11 p. m., and the novelties will be presented in rapid succession with many surprises. Mile. Sidonie, the famous dancer, will offer her sensational number, with all its beautiful spectacular effects, the like of which has never heretofore been seen in Dixon. Mile. Sidonie is a protege of the leading theaters in the metropolis, and much is expected of her appearance at the Family for this important occasion.

The Mexican Trio, composed of a lady and two gentlemen, will render music of a variety that appeals to the masses as well as the classes. These clever artists have the happy faculty of knowing how to gain favor with their audiences and the music rendered is of catchy quality and offered with a spirit of liveliness as only the Mexican Trio know how to render.

Then comes Duke O'Bryan, a character comedian of note, a spirit of irresistible merriment while he is on the stage, who with his dialect stories will have very little trouble in demonstrating that he is a finished entertainer with a peculiar style of delivery all his own.

The pictures will be "The Girl

Who Might Have Been" featuring Harry Morey, Betty Gray and a stellar cast, in three reels; "As He Blew," a roaring comedy; and also funny Charlie Chaplin in one reel.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Tonight the love story of a fair colleen, "Kathleen Mavourneen" will be presented by the Enterprise Stock company. The pictorial program is: "And They Called Him a Hero," a war drama in two reels, and "Skipper Simpson's Daughter," a rollicking comedy.

Tomorrow evening the comedy-drama, "The Prince of Liars," will be presented with the following pictures: "My Wild Irish Rose," a two reel rural drama, featuring Cleo Madison and "A Mixed Up Elopement."

AT THE FAMILY

The excellent vaudeville bill that has been showing the past 2 nights will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. It includes Ford & Truly wonder canine actors; Rice & Davis, in newest dance creations; and Miss Hazel Lynch, singing and dancing comedienne. The pictures for tonight are: "The Lonely Lovers," a Selig drama, in two parts, and Billy Quick and Constance Talmadge in "The Maker of the House."

For Sunday night they are: Velma Whitman and L. C. Shumway in "Her Father's Picture," a Lubin drama in two reels, and "Andy of the Royal Mounted," featuring G. M. Anderson.

PRINCESS THEATER

Tonight the Princess theater will show a thrill two reel Kay-Bee feature entitled, "The Secret of Lost River," with Frank Borzage and Louise Glau in the leading roles. A romantic story of an old master piece. This story abounds in thrills and excitement and is played by the best stars obtainable. The other reels are a Keystone comedy entitled, "Mable Lost and Found," starring Mable Normand in a very laughable comedy. The last reel is a Reliance drama entitled "The Choir Boys" with Ben Lewis and Mable Dean in the leading roles, a pathetic story of two boyhood friends.

On Sunday night the Princess Theatre has on its bill a two reel Thanhouser feature entitled "The

GOVERNMENT LOST SUIT TO DISSOLVE READING COMPANY

UNITED STATES COURT FOUND FOR THE DEFENDANTS AT PHILADELPHIA.

SUIT COMMENCED IN 1907

U. S. Department of Justice Asked That Reading and Jersey Separate.

(Associated Press)

Philadelphia, July 3.—The Federal court today decided in favor of the defendant in the suit to dissolve the Reading Company and to separate the Jersey Central from the Reading.

The suit of the government against the Reading company and allied corporations is probably the most important step the Department of Justice has taken in its attack upon what it contends is a monopoly in the anthracite coal trade. In 1907 the government filed a suit against all the anthracite coal carrying railroad and affiliated coal companies charging that a general illegal combination existed among them. This charge was not sustained by the supreme court but the government won two other material points in that suit. It then decided to take action against many of the companies in separate suits.

The case decided against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad and its allied coal company and that against the Lehigh Valley Railroad and the coal company affiliated with it are now in the Federal courts.

The suit against the Reading was filed here in September, 1913. The defendants are:

The Reading company, a holding corporation.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company.

The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company.

The Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

The Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company.

The Lehigh Coal and Navigation company.

Wilmingon and Northern Railroad company.

Lehigh and Hudson River Railway company.

Lehigh and New England Railroad company.

Under the commodities clause of the act to regulate commerce the government asked that the Reading Railroad, the Jersey Central, the Lehigh and Susquehanna and the Lehigh and New England railroads be enjoined from transporting coal mined or purchased by their affiliated coal companies and owned by these coal companies at the time of transportation. The commodities clause prohibits transportation companies from carrying in interstate commerce any product in which they have an interest.

Argument in the case was heard last June before Judges Buffington, McPherson and Hunt. The last named was a member of the Commerce Court and was assigned to sit in the case because of retirement from the bench of Judge George Grey.

IT IS "THE SIX of '16" BECAUSE

IT has a Long Wheelbase, 125 inches, with a single drop cambered frame, giving a very short turning radius.

IT has a Powerful 48 Horsepower high-speed flexible Six-cylinder motor, 3 1/2 x 5 inches, with cylinders cast in bloc. Cellular Honeycomb Radiator with water jackets completely surrounding each cylinder, together with the unique mounting of water circulating pump, makes it impossible to over heat the motor under the most trying driving conditions. The construction of this motor makes it possible to drive the car over 35 miles per hour in second speed with no vibration.

IT has the "Bate Two-Unit Three-Point Suspension" construction with the engine, flywheel and clutch as one unit; and the gearset, torsion tube and full floating rear axle as the second unit, making a simple, correctly balanced construction.

IT has Light Weight, 2950 pounds. The liberal use of drop forgings and steel stampings in place of malleable castings as commonly used; hollow drive and brake shafts, go to make this remarkable light weight for such a large car.

IT has Chrome-Vanadium Steel construction. The tougher steel known to the Metallurgic world is the light weight. The long wheelbase and the Bate liberally used in the front axle, steering gear, all gears and drive shafts.

IT has Perfect Riding Qualities notwithstanding the light weight. The long wheelbase and the Bate improved cantilever springs, on which snubbers are entirely unnecessary, account for this car being the first automobile manufactured that rides as easy in the rear as in the front seat.

IT has Economy. High speed motor, fitted with multiple steel leak-proof piston rings, the intake manifold cast within the cylinder bloc, giving an even temperature to the gas. The latest improved carburetor accounts for the reports from our dealers that

New England's Funeral Curtain.

"INSTANT retaliation!" said the field telegraph to the armies. "Order all brigade commanders to execute disorderly civilians in most public and exemplary manner possible. Attach placards to bodies proclaiming why punishment was incurred. Divisional commanders are empowered in their discretion to order partial or total destruction of offending cities."

The commanders transmitted the orders to their regimental commanders and these to the officers of their battalions and companies. "Crush all disorder with utmost severity," they said. What it meant was "Kill, burn and destroy!" It meant "Set fire against fire!" It meant "Let your men go!"

It meant what a war of soldiers against battling civilians in a conquered country always has meant. Both sides had seen their dead. Both sides were maddened. Now the men with arms, restrained no longer by cold discipline, broke loose.

Then New England saw such deeds as that quiet landscape never had framed since the days of its old Indian wars, and perhaps not even then. It saw housewives hanging from budding apple trees with placards pinned to their breasts saying that they had helped to murder soldiers. It saw New England people who twenty-four hours earlier would not have killed a chicken without a pang of pity surround solitary soldiers and do them to death with their bare hands while they begged for mercy. It saw unarmed citizens seized on the roads and hustled to walls and shot while they were screaming for somebody in authority that they might prove their innocence.

The authorities of a score of towns were hanged in their town squares because troops had been fired on. In many a park that never had seen anything more formidable than children at their play hung dead men in a row—the executed hostages who paid for the acts of men whom they had not known. A thousand men and women of Connecticut and Massachusetts, it was reported later, were shot or hanged in that one afternoon.

And over the two states, rising slowly and spreading until the sunny sky was darkened, there hung, like a funeral curtain over the place of death, the black smoke of burning villages and towns.

When that April day ended and the night came down there was no place in eastern Connecticut, in all the seventy miles north and south, from New London to Worcester, where men could not see the fire burning towns or houses. In Massachusetts, from New Bedford to Taunton, and from Taunton north to Brockton, there were fires. All the sky around Providence was red with it. The smoke drifted over Boston, and the strangling odor filled its streets.

All night the country burned. All night wounded fugitives lay hidden, gritting their teeth, or, forced by intolerable anguish, crawled out and surrendered. All night long the troops swept through town after town, wreaking vengeance.

It was finished in the morning. "The country is pacified," were the reports that went to headquarters. There were no gatherings of citizens anywhere within the province of the army's operations. They were forbidden. There were no arms left in the hands of civilians. Houses in which weapons were found had been destroyed. Men who had been found with them in their possession were shot. Men with explosives were shot. In all New England that morning every man had to be ready, for his life, to hold out his open hands whenever he met a soldier and submit to search.

Through the two armies ran the orders to restore stiff discipline. The soldiers came to leash, and the big machine shook down. The patrols went out grimly, with a new meaning in their peering, scrutinizing frowns. They found a terrorized country, through which they moved unhampered.

"Worcester Occupied" was the early news that went through the United States. "Motor Raiders at Fitchburg" was the next report. Bit by bit the enemy was cutting Boston and all eastern New England off from the rest of the United States.

East of Providence the advance guard of the army that was threatening Boston reached the line from Attleboro through Bridgewater and Silver Lake to Kingston, thus extending across that part of Massachusetts all the way to Plymouth bay.

Washington received news of an enormous unfolding of cavalry. The reports came from East Brookfield, halfway between Worcester and Springfield in southern Massachusetts; from Williamstown, in central Connecticut, and from New London, on the Long Island sound shore in the south.

From Attleboro there was a sudden thrust along the railroad line Taunton to Mansfield. From this point the enemy moved rapidly along the railroad line to Framingham. In two hours he had in his possession six important junctions of the railroad system that connect Boston with the rest of New England and with the United States.

His grip on Rhode Island had not relaxed. That whole state was in his hands. There was not a village left in it that was not dominated by his troops. Men were quartered in every house. Officers were quartered in every hotel, every mansion. The town halls and churches were occupied. In places where there were not sufficient stable accommodations the horses were placed in the churches.

Town and village authorities received orders, not from officers, but from common soldiers, or, at the most, from sergeants or corporals. Only in the most important places did commissioned officers trouble to consult with the officials. Wherever the invader set foot all old law ceased instantly and new law began. The bulletin boards in town halls, courtrooms and post-offices were covered, within half an hour after the irruption of soldiery, by placards that were headed, each and every one, with the words, "An Order."

The people were ordered not to be out of doors after 9 at night. They were ordered to bring in an accounting of all horse forage, all foodstuffs and all accommodation they had in their premises for men and animals. They were ordered to bring in all rolling stock for inspection. They were ordered to leave their lights burning behind lowered shades.

Their officials were ordered to report daily to the army for instructions. Their judges were ordered to make reports of their cases. There was no duty of the day to which a citizen could turn without feeling the invader's hand upon him. There was no road on which he could move without being challenged by a sentry. There was no woman who dared venture on the street for fear of offense which her men could not dare to resent or for the worse fear of the fate that would be theirs if they did.

"It is plain now what he is doing," said the chief of staff to the president in Washington. "He is keeping a powerful retaining force in Rhode Island, absolutely assuring his base and holding the gate open for re-enforcements. Westward he is throwing masses of cavalry—probably most of the cavalry that he has—to clear the way for his infantry and artillery to march along the coast to New York. Northward those cavalry masses are screening him against any attempt by our army either to fall on his forces in Connecticut or to move around north of him and attack the rear of his divisions that are marching on Boston. It isn't tactics. It's simple, common sense use of numerical superiority."

The president played with a pile of dispatches. They were from Boston and New York. "You say that those companies of coast artillery from the south got through?"

"I had a message from the commander of the artillery district of Boston," he said. "The six companies arrived at Fort Banks yesterday morning. They had to go around by way of Lake Champlain and Vermont, but they got through. That will at least give the men some relief if there should be a sustained action."

"You are sure it was not a mistake to—sacrifice them?" asked the president.

The general shrugged his shoulders. "There are some things that one simply must do," he said. "We had to give New York and Boston something,

We absolutely must make some sort of a fight for them."

The commander of the harbor defenses of Boston was not concerning himself about the occult reasons that had inspired the re-enforcements. He had been praying for men, for he needed half a dozen men wherever he had one. He needed them for the searchlights; he needed men that he might establish defenses to the land approaches; he needed men for protection of base lines and cable stations.

Now that he had them he waited for no orders and asked for no instructions. He loaded quartermasters' boats with detachments and rushed them to the waterfront of Boston and Chelsea where he knew of things he wanted. They returned with two tons of explosives and miscellaneous ordnance material that had been seized from merchants. He seized barbed wire. From electric light plants and power works he obtained, by the same simple method, some forty miles of lead covered cable for his mine fields, and from ships in the harbor he took half a dozen searchlights.

["The searchlight project is approximately 50 per cent completed. * * * The fire control system may be said to be approximately 60 per cent completed. * * * Installation of power generating and distributing equipment is 25 per cent completed. * * * Submarine mine structures are 83 per cent completed."]—Report Chief of Coast Artillery, U. S. A., For Year Ended June 30, 1914.]

Before night, too, he had men entrenched behind entanglements with machine guns on the narrow neck of land that leads to Nahant's broad cliff promontory on the north of Boston harbor to protect position finding sta-

the strength of his defense because he had the men. He looked up at a hostile aeroplane flying well beyond gun shot. They had become almost commonplace objects in Boston's sky during the past days. "Well, come on," he said; "you and your ships! We'll give you a whirl!"

He was awakened at 1 o'clock that morning. The "whirl" had begun. Ships were standing in toward Nahant bay in the north and off Cohasset in the south. Fifteen minutes afterward the people of Boston and Charlestown and Brookline, of Quincy and Weymouth, Hingham and Lynn, were brought out of their beds by explosions that shook the houses. They came from the sea, northeast and southeast, and east. They were not only incessant, but they came two and even three so close together at times that they made a sustained roar as if the very air itself had turned to thunder.

Battleships with fifteen and sixteen inch guns were bombarding Fort Revere and the fort was answering with its twelve-inch guns. Armored cruisers were firing on Standish. Armored cruisers and battle cruisers were throwing twelve and fourteen inch shells into Deer Island and on Winthrop. Battleships lying north of Nahant in Nahant bay, and thus invisible to the Boston defenses and not to be reached by searchlights, were bombarding Forts Banks and Heath. Fort Warren was firing at them over Boston light.

The people in south Boston, looking seaward, saw lights appear in the sky over the outer harbor islands. They slipped slowly downward, leaving long trails of stars behind, that hung, burning, in the air as if they had been fixed there.

The falling lights opened, like monster flowers, into glaring, spectrally white flame just before they reached the earth. All the harbor where they fell stood revealed as in a lightning flash, but this flame did not go out like a lightning flash. It burned, steadily, inextinguishable, for long minutes.

They were star bombs that were being dropped on the forts by the great war fowl, the iron breasted aeroplanes. The white lights glaring below, and the hanging lights in the air that stood like a lighted staff, pointed out the forts to the hooded cannon of their iron sisters out at sea.

In a great semicircle around Boston harbor, from Nahant out to sea and curving in again toward Cohasset on the south, lay the flaming, roaring line, firing at the defenses all night long, till the dawn began to whiten.

And behind Boston, inland, the other great armed semicircle was concentrating steadily, swiftly.

SCHOFIELD HOTEL AND COTTAGES

This popular resort is almost as well known as the Dells. It has been entertaining summer guests for forty years, and has lately been enlarged in capacity by the erection of a large modern building, fully equipped with every modern convenience, and affording dining room, assembly parlors, etc. This is an addition to the popular cottage plan, and adds to the previous popular attractions of the older system. The hotel and cottages are in extensive grounds, delightfully shaded by large oaks, and being away from the river is most especially desirable for families with children. The location is in the edge of Kilbourn on a pretty resident street, but a pleasant walk from the river and depot, and with regular free bus and carriage service to these points. The large hotel is not surpassed in this locality in point of modern style and comfort. The annex cottages and grounds make it altogether everything that anybody would desire. The test of efficiency is in the table. This hotel is especially noted for its excellent table board. Fresh butter, eggs, vegetables and fruit are supplied daily from the farm, and its preparation by a professional chef is perfect; chicken dinners twice a week. family for week or longer. Rooms with bath must be applied for in advance. Rates: $2 per day, $12 per week; half rates for children; rates made to family for week or longer. Rooms with bath must be applied for in advance. Free use of garage.

Condemned New York Policeman Tells Who Got Graft.

SIX MEN DIVIDED $100,000

Attorney Manton Furnishes Names to Governor Whitman—One of Blackmailers Dead—Counsel for Condemned Man Resents Indifference of Former Prosecutor.

New York, July 3.—Charles Becker, in the death house at Sing Sing will reveal, before he goes to the death chair, the names of the police department officials, living and dead, with whom he divided the $100,000 graft money that was wrung from the gamblers and illegal resort keepers in his violent career, as commander of the strong arm squad.

This was the prediction made by the condemned man's lawyer, Martin T. Manton, who gave to the governor on Thursday the names of the six men who worked in the background and took the cash that Becker ground out of evil doers. Not all of these men are living, but those that are alive ought to be shaking in their shoes, according to Mr. Manton, because Becker is desperate, now that hope is practically gone.

Becker Would Save Others.

The lawyer himself would not make public the names of the officials accused by Becker. He said that he was bound not only by the ethics of his profession and his promise to Governor Whitman, but was restrained also by the possibility that some of the men named by Becker might be falsely accused. He is certain, however, that Becker intends to tell, and explains that Becker is swayed mostly by the feeling that he does not want other men to be used as tools and then cast aside when they are no longer useful and merely dangerous.

Names Six Blackmailers.

No amount of questioning could elicit from Mr. Manton any further details concerning the revelations expected, other than that Becker has told the governor that six persons besides himself filled their pockets from blackmail proceeds. Mr. Manton left it clearly to be understood that the large sums of cash banked by Lieutenant Becker in 1911 and 1912, in the period when the strong arm squad was raiding and manipulating evidence to suit Becker's ends, were shared with the six officials. At least one of these is dead. The reason that Becker had much less money than was generally credited to him at the time of his arrest and two trials for the murder of Rosenthal was because the greater part of the blackmail proceeds estimated at fully $100,000 went to his silent and hidden confederates, was the impression gathered from Mr. Manton's interview.

Resents Whitman's Apathy.

Although the lawyer was exceedingly careful in his choice of words, it was strongly apparent that he bitterly resented Governor Whitman's refusal to commute Becker's sentence as a reward for Becker's graft revelations. Mr. Manton intimated that the governor displayed an astonishing eagerness to drop the whole business, a desire to close the entire case. Even after the six names were given to him he declined, Mr. Manton said, to extend any mercy to the condemned man.

Mr. Manton's point of view, as stated in the interview, was that the governor should at least have given a long reprieve to Becker, not only because time might demonstrate that Jack Rose, Weber and Vallon gave false testimony but because Becker's willingness to expose the secret grafters of the police department could be used for the public good.

On the other hand it was reported from Albany that Governor Whitman, in talks with close friends, had said that Becker's revelations were of no especial importance.

Ben Hur Association Wins.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 3.—Judge Baker in the federal court sustained the Ben Hur Insurance association with headquarters at Crawfordsville, in the action taken by the board of trustees in establishing a class "E" membership system and transferring $500,000 of the order's funds and certain members into the new division.

46,000 Munitions Volunteers.

London, July 3.—Lloyd George's appeal for volunteers to speed up the production of munitions for the British army has met with hearty response, Lord Curzon announces. During the past week 46,000 skilled workmen have volunteered for work in munition factories.

Panama Canal Earns $250,000.

Panama, July 3.—The Panama canal will earn about $250,000 above operating expenses during the first year of its operation, ending June 30, according to figures compiled by H. A. Smith, canal auditor.

The Telegraph has employed the services of Geo. Murray as country circulator. John Thome still retains his position as solicitor and circulator for this paper.

SAW CREEK FLOW BACKWARD

The Raging Bear Blossom Runs Up Hill in "Injany."

Bloomington, Ind., July 3.—A heavy rain and hail storm swept over Bloomington, extending two miles to the north. The roads in some places were covered with two and three inches of hail. The farmers along Bear Blossom creek, four miles north of here, witnessed the unusual sight of seeing the creek flow backward for nearly an hour.

The storm put Griffy creek out of its banks, and where Griffy flows into Bear Blossom the water went in both directions, both down stream and "up hill."

Diamond Edge Hatchets are made in all the various styles. The cutting edge of each hatchet is made of extra crucible steel, carefully tempered, thoroughly tested, and ground down to a perfect cutting edge. The handles are carefully set, and they have that balance and feel that the workman demands.

A Diamond Edge Hatchet costs you a few cents more than the other kind. For these few cents you get the difference between the thoroughbred and the cheap. You get the finest of steel; the best quality of temper; the careful balance; the perfect finish; the "tone" and "clink" that satisfies. You are justified in paying any reasonable price for such quality.
